

NOMINATIONS FOR 2024 AWARDS SOLICITED

The National Association of Probation Executives will be recognizing individuals who have contributed to the probation profession. Members of the Awards Committee are soliciting nominations for the following awards, to be presented this June in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Sam Houston State University — Executive of the Year Award

This award is given annually by the George J. Beto Criminal Justice Center at Sam Houston State University to an outstanding probation executive selected by the NAPE Awards Committee. Criteria for this prestigious award include the following:

- Manager of a public agency providing probation services;
- Member of the National Association of Probation Executives;
- Contributed to local, state, regional, or national professional organizations;
- Demonstrated sustained exemplary performance as a manager in pursuit of the goals of the profession;
- Implemented new and innovative policy, procedure, program, or technology with high potential to enhance the standards and practice of probation which is transferable; and
- Has achieved outstanding recognition during the year or has outstanding achievements over time.

George M. Keiser Award for Exceptional Leadership

The National Association of Probation Executives and the Community Corrections Improvement Association of Iowa jointly present this award to an administrator, manager, or supervisor who has demonstrated exceptional leadership under challenging conditions which provide value added activity or service to the organization or community they serve. Additional criteria for this award include:

- Nomination must come from a NAPE represented department and must be approved by the director or board of directors for that agency; and
- Nominee must have achieved an outstanding accomplishment during the year or championed a specific cause over a period of time.

Nominating Process

In nominating persons for one of these awards, in addition to the nomination, please provide a detailed biographical sketch of the nominee or a recent vita. Supporting documents, such as news articles, are also welcomed.

Nominations should be sent to Vanessa Farmer via vfarmer@shsu.edu.
All award nominations MUST be received by the NAPE Secretariat by May 31, 2024.
